

The Classic John Barrymore Swashbucklers of the 1920s: Old Hollywood in Color 5

Think of swashbuckler films - loosely defined as an adventure story set in the past - and images of Errol Flynn and Tyrone Power come to mind. Yet to give credit where its due, Douglas Fairbanks Sr. invented the genre, and John Barrymore rivaled him by starring in some of the finest swashbucklers during its first decade in the 1920s. The titles of his films are still names to conjure with: THE SEA BEAST, DON JUAN, WHEN A MAN LOVES, THE BELOVED ROGUE, and several more. And John Barrymore alone has the distinction of making swashbucklers that span the silent and sound film eras. This volume presents the first pictorial review of all the John Barrymore swashbucklers that were made between 1924 and 1930. Each film is given full cast and crew credits, background information on its production, and critical reaction at the time of its premiere and today. Home video editions are also listed. Many rare posters, photos, and souvenir programs are provided in full color, and a bonus chapter includes rare photos of Barrymores yacht, 3-D images, and a link to John Barrymores live radio performance in Shakespeares The Taming of the Shrew. This book is both a celebration of Old Hollywood and a collectors item.
